Notes on Contributors

Follow this and additional works at: https://digital.car.chula.ac.th/arv

Part of the Asian Studies Commons

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://digital.car.chula.ac.th/arv/vol5/iss1/10

This Others is brought to you for free and open access by the Chulalongkorn Journal Online (CUJO) at Chula Digital Collections. It has been accepted for inclusion in Asian Review by an authorized editor of Chula Digital Collections. For more information, please contact ChulaDC@car.chula.ac.th.
Notes on Contributors

Dr. Winai Pongsripian graduated with a B.A. in History from Chulalongkorn University in 1972. He was awarded a Thai Government scholarship to pursue a study in Southeast Asian history at the school of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, Hull University, and Bristol University, where he obtained a Ph.D. He is at present a lecturer at the Department of History of the Faculty of Arts, Silpakorn University.

Dr. Supang Chantavanich is the principal investigator for the research project “The Teochiu Chinese from Chaoshan to Thailand” which is a collaboration between the Institute of Asian Studies at Bangkok’s Chulalongkorn University and the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, Zhongshan University in Guangzhou. She conducted two field trips to Chaoshan in April 1986 and May 1988 to collect data for the study alongside her Chinese counterparts.

Professor Laura Summers is Lecturer in Politics and International Relations, University of Lancaster from 1973 to present. She was a research fellow at Southeast Asia Program, Cornell University, 1982/83, A frequent contributor to several publications such as Oxford Analytica Daily Brief, Current History, Third World Studies, and Bulletin of Concerned Asian Scholars. Professor Summer was Visiting Fellow at the Institute of Asian Studies, Chulalongkorn University, partially supported by the British Council, from 11 September 1989 through September 1990. This paper was presented at a seminar led by her during her tenure at the Institute.

Pasuk Phongpaichit is Associate Professor in Economics, and Director of Political Economy Centre, Chulalongkorn University, Thailand. She has a doctorate from Cambridge University, England, has worked as an expert at the International Labour Office, and has served as a Consultant for the World Bank and UNESCO. Her published works cover topics on labour, the service sector, Japanese firms in ASEAN, economic policy making and economic development.
Professor Xue Mouhong graduated from Graduate School of Beijing University in 1951. He served as Senior Research Fellow of the Institute of International Studies of China, Chief Editor of Journal of International Studies, Director of Department of History of Chinese Foreign Ministry, and Chinese Ambassador to Kenya and Chinese Permanent Representative to UNEP and Habitat (1987-1989). Ambassador Xue was Keizo Shibusawa Fellow at the Institute of Asian Studies, Chulalongkorn University for three months, from 1 March to 31 May 1990. This article is part of his contributions to the Institute of Asian Studies during his tenure at the Institute.