Contributors
Contributors

Alessio Fratticcioli received a laurea in Political Science from the University of Perugia, Italy, and an MA in Southeast Asian Studies from Chulalongkorn University in 2011.

Juan González García has a doctorate in Economics from the National Polytechnic Institute in Mexico, and a masters in Economic Law from the Autonomous Metropolitan University, campus Xochimilco, Mexico. His current research interests include: international economic relations with an emphasis on the Pacific Basin, and comparative economic development studies between Mexico and the People’s Republic of China. He is currently a professor at the Faculty of Economics, University of Colima, Mexico.

Anniken Renslo Sandvik is a journalist, currently working in a newspaper in Norway. She received her BA in journalism from Griffith College in Dublin, Ireland, and continued her studies in Bangkok. She graduated with a Master’s degree in Southeast Asian Studies from Chulalongkorn University in 2011. Her academic interests include media, cultural commercialization, democracy and human rights.

Gabriela Steinemann is an MA candidate in the Southeast Asian Studies Program, Graduate School, Chulalongkorn University. She obtained a Master’s degree in International Relations from the Graduate Institute of International Studies in Geneva, Switzerland in 2005. Her research interests include human security and conflict issues with a focus on Southeast Asia.